

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

---

A.E. BUTLER is in-house counsel for several corporations advising on commercial transactions and additional legal matters; the author has written numerous publications for various publishers on commercial transactions and on other legal subjects. She is an attorney admitted to the California State Bar, Florida State Bar, and several federal courts and is also a Civil Law Notary; she is also an arbitrator for consumer disputes. The author received her B.A., with honors, in International Relations from the University of South Florida and J.D. from Loyola University New Orleans School of Law.